

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A debugging system and debugging techniques for configurable processors remove the requirement of foreknowledge of specific configurable processor information from components of the debugging system where obtaining that foreknowledge is costly. The system is part of an environment that generates a processor where the proper information is generated in the right forms for such use.

□ 96 □ 226 □ 100 □